

WRNC Cage Building Grant

Modified March 27, 2012

Two $300.00 grants will be awarded to help defray costs for two current (dues paid) WRNC members to use for cage building. WRNC recommends that these cages be built to meet the IWRC/NWRA "Minimum Standards Guidelines". In order to prevent awarding this money and not having it used for the cage building, the WRNC Board of Directors requires several safeguard measures:

- Three other rehabilitators (WRNC members), as well as the veterinarian that the applicant works with for their injured wildlife are required to vouch for the need of the person applying for the grant. They would verify that the person is indeed actively rehabilitating a medium-to-large volume of animals, is known to them as a rehabber in good standing, and holding current state and/or federal licenses. Board members will verify this information by phone calls.
- The veterinarian must also vouch for the need of the person applying for the grant.
- The Board may ask to have a copy of the applicant's statistical records to use as proof-of- need as well.
- The applicant must sign a Promissory Note stating that a minimum of 90% of the money will be used only for the building of the cage. [This will allow you to use some previously purchased materials (nails, bolts, wire, etc.) without forcing you to buy more just to satisfy the total grant amount.]
- The three initial people vouching for the applicant will also be required to confirm that the cage has actually been built. Board members will again verify this by phone calls.
- The Board requires that a final color photograph be submitted once the cage has been built. The photo may be used as publicity for the grant program and an article in the next newsletter.
- The Board requires a copy of the actual receipts for the cage building supplies once the cage building is complete.
- A time limit of 90 days is standard from the time the check is issued to the time the cage has been completed. Acceptable extenuating circumstances documented in a letter to the Board before expiration of the 90 day period may result in formal grant time extension with a new completion date. (There may be extenuating circumstances that are acceptable to increase this time period, but they must be put in writing and the Board notified for the reason for the delay, and a completion date must be set, with the promise to adhere to it.) However, failure to comply with the new date will result in the Board asking for the money to be returned and issued to another recipient.

Time Frame:

- Applications are due by May 1st, annually.
- All WRNC members in good standing (dues paid and no wildlife infractions) are encouraged to apply for a Cage Building Grant in accordance with the eligibility requirements and instructions contained herein. Preference will be given to those members who have not previously been awarded a WRNC Cage Building Grant.
- The selection for the two grant recipients will be made by the Board of Directors by June 1st, annually, and the recipients notified immediately following that decision.
