

Capture and Restraint of Small
Mammals & Birds and
Proper Handling Techniques

Handling Baby Mammals

You are brought a box containing baby squirrels you will now admit and examine.

How do you take the baby squirrels out of the box?
What must you avoid doing?
What should you watch for?
What is the immediate concern?

Holding baby squirrels

Warmth and security
most important

Use soft blanket wrap

Activity increases with age

Upright positions for feeding and stimulation
Forelimb secured between fingers
No pressure to chest or throat area

Handling Baby Opossums

Can you recognize when they are bluffing? Is it safe to reach in?

Cradle gently and securely

Hold upright or on their stomachs

Handling Baby Rabbits

How do you take baby bunnies out of a box?
How do you hold baby bunnies to feed and stimulate? What are the dangers?

Very carefully !

Sit at a table and use two hands
for best control method

Don't let size fool you

Baby cottontails can jump!

Restraining Adult Mammals

How do you restrain an adult mammal for a physical exam?

Capturing Adult Mammals

Have all equipment ready to use for Catch-N-Carry

Gloves

Towels

Nets

Wear Shoes (not sandals)

Restraining Adult Mammals

Cover the animal's head

Restraining Adult Mammals

Best to have 2 people

Restraining Adult Mammals

What do you watch out for when examining a squirrel?

Keep control of the head

Squirrels have powerful jaws
Use gloves and a towel for the back legs

Restraining Adult Opossums

How do you restrain an opossum for a physical exam?

Watch out for both ends!

Handling adults based on injury

Restraining Adult Mammals

Hold opossums behind head

Restraining Adult Rabbits

How do you pick up an adult cottontail?

Restraining any size rabbit

Place one hand on head to prevent bolting
Other hand supports hind legs and spine

Support the weight and control the feet

Handling Songbirds

How do you pick up a fledgling or adult songbird?
How do you hold songbirds to examine them?

Gently cradle nestlings

Be careful of joints and quills

Examining Adult Songbirds

Handling Young Birds

Support heavy bodies
and use two hands

Don't squeeze throat area

Restraining Larger Birds

Hold wings to body and support underneath

Don't damage feathers

Caring for young birds

Do not hold nestlings to feed
Use blunt tipped tweezers
and get them to gape

Handling Waterfowl

How you hold depends upon size and if they will try to fly away

Holding Ducklings

Don't let them fall

Handling Geese

Control wings
- pin to body

Handling Waterfowl

No teeth, but can nip hard

Muscovy Duck's
sharp nails

Handling Waterfowl

Handling other water birds

Watch out for sharp beaks!

Holding Turtles

How do you pick up a turtle?

Holding Turtles

Keep upright and support underneath

The End

